PSBAA releases review of K-12 education funding in Alberta

June 3, 2021 (Edmonton, AB) ... The Public School Boards' Association of Alberta (PSBAA) today released a comprehensive review of K-12 education funding in Alberta.

"This will be a useful reference document that examines the current environment of K-12 funding in Alberta and where we are heading," said Curtis Riep, PhD, the author of the study. "I think it could be helpful for a wide variety of individuals, from school administration, to trustees, to school families and anyone with an interest in school finance in Alberta."

He noted his report, A Review of K-12 Education Funding in Alberta, is evidence-based, using available data from the Alberta government's Education department. The review includes a history of K-12 education funding from 1994 to 2020, an analysis of education funding now – including the Weighted Moving Average funding formula, and some important conclusions and recommendations.

The conclusions and recommendations include:

1. Funding for public education is fragmented
2. Cooperation and shared resources should be the goal, not competition between boards
3. Private school funding levels should be re-examined
4. Charter school redesignation
5. The financial health of school jurisdictions' operating reserves should be consistently monitored, assessed, and reported
6. Continued investment in program supports and services are key to care for the most vulnerable students
7. Further pre- and post-evaluation of Weighted Moving Average funding formula is required

"This document provides added value for our member public school boards," said Cathy Hogg, PSBAA President. "The PSBAA is a key hub for collecting sound research that can help inform our decision-making as locally-elected school board trustees. We believe this document will be a valuable resource for our members, and we are pleased to make it available to them."

The report is posted on the PSBAA website at <https://public-schools.ab.ca/wp-content/uploads/2021/06/A-Review-of-K-12-Education-Funding-in-Alberta.pdf>.

The Public School Boards' Association of Alberta is the only provincial association representing and advocating for Alberta's public school boards, and public school education in Alberta.
